New challenges in perinatal medicine

Dear Colleagues and Friends,

New diagnostic and therapeutic possibilities in perinatal medicine pose new challenges for obstetricians and neonatologists. Daily business has become more complex and highly sophisticated. Therefore, it is time to get together and examine some of these developments in more detail.

We are pleased to welcome you to the 2019 Annual Conference of the Swiss Society of Neonatology (SSN) in Aarau, which will be held together with the Academy for Fetal and Maternal Medicine (AFMM) of the Swiss Society of Gynecology and Obstetrics. As a perinatal team, we face these new challenges and discuss them with experts in the field.

It has become a tradition of this conference that young Swiss neonatologists and pediatricians, as well as obstetricians, will have the opportunity to present their research projects as short oral presentations or during a poster walk.

We invite you to be part of this meeting, meet each other and spend an interesting day in Aarau.

Please be sure to submit your abstract prior to October 31, 2018 and indicate your preferred mode of presentation (oral or poster).
